

As part of your first paper...

1-Introduce the Structure & Agency model of families: What is it? What are the different parts and how are they related? Why is the model useful? (This will be a couple of solid paragraphs – likely a page.)

2-Apply the S&A model (This will be the bulk of your paper):

- Describe how the model applies to Example 1 (structural context, family situation, agentic decision, and how it worked out)

Note: "Example 1" referred to a case study the students were given as part of the assignment. Students are learning to analyze culture and power as part of a larger analytic tool – the "structure and agency" model – as applied to families.
