ABOUT THE CAMP

Conducted by the Carleton and St. Olaf College Women’s Soccer Coaching Staffs, the 1-day Winter ID Camp is an excellent opportunity for high school student-athletes to experience the mental and physical demands of college soccer.

The on-field activities are designed to replicate the daily training environment of our current student-athletes. Additionally, off-field activities will help prepare participants for the college recruiting and admissions processes. A campus tour and admissions discussion will educate participants about the curriculum, facilities, and student body of both elite colleges. Additionally, the coaching staff will facilitate a comprehensive discussion on the recruitment process and student-athlete life, clarify common college misconceptions, and prepare the campers for their own college research.

Head Coaches Jocelyn Keller and Jeremy Driver bring a wealth of experience, having coached college soccer for a combined 14 years. In addition, current players from both programs will be available to help with the clinic and share their experiences first hand.
