

WSST 399, Spring 2009

Final Project Self-Assessment

Due: May 13

1. Write brief comments which reflect on the degree to which your project succeeds in the following areas:

- Project responds to a problem or condition involving gender.
- Project interprets the problem or condition with the help of theory.
- Project chooses appropriate theory to interpret a specific problem or condition.
- Project moves from theory to practice.
- Project identifies an appropriate audience, moving beyond a comfort zone of people who know me or agree with my ideas.
- Project chooses a format appropriate for content and intended audience.

2. Describe one or two specific responses to your project. How did these responses complicate, change, or strengthen your understanding of the problem/condition to which your project responds.

3. Describe one or two challenges you didn't anticipate. How did you respond?

4. To what extent has your project inspired action or contributed to a conversation?